

INDEX

- Abstract form, two dimensional, 35 ff.; three dimensional, 45 ff., 163; limitations of, 48 ff., 117-18, 163-4.
- Abstractionist criticism, 2 ff., 9 ff., 60-61, 163-4, 167.
- "Accentuation," 149.
- Action, 81 ff.
- Æsthetic values, three classes of, 19, 21, 162; relation between three classes, 69 ff.; relative significance of three classes, 32-3, 68 ff.
- "Amplitudes" of form, see Form.
- Architecture, 46-7.
- Arts, relations between the, 99-100.
- Association, 19-21, 62-4, 67; "objectification" of, 20-21, 66-7.
- Associative effects, their place in visual art, 93 ff., 118-20.
- Associative form, definition of, 72-3; origins of the conception, 121; relation to plastic form, 93 ff., 122 ff.
- Attention, focus of, 93 ff.; alternating process of, 96-7.
- Barnes, Albert C., 6 ff., 105, 132-3, 152, 166.
- Bell, Clive, 2, 3, 5.
- Bergson, Henri, 6.
- Cézanne, 10, 12, 60.
- Character, a form, 75 ff., 123; relations between characters, 79 ff.
- Cheney, Sheldon, 2, 13, 152, 155.
- Classicism, definition of, 150-51.
- Color, 26 ff.; the individual color, 26 ff.; color relations, 30; relation to form, 33-4.
- Content, 15, 91-2.
- Continuum of experience, 95.
- Crivelli, "Annunciation," 90.
- Croce, Benedetto, 15, 92.
- Cubism, 3, 47-8, 52-3, 118.
- Decoration, 12, 104, 152 ff.
- Degas, "Repasseuses," 144.
- Delacroix, 8; "Death of Assurbanipal," 149 ff., 158.
- De Mazia, Violette, 152.
- Dewey, John, 49, 156.
- "Displacement" of formal equilibrium, 149-50.
- Dramatic effect, 88-9, 150.
- El Greco, 13; "Agony in the Garden," 85 ff., 111, 128 ff.
- Expression, definition of, 19-21; æsthetic and non-æsthetic, 20-21, 66-7; in color, 28, 125-30; in form, 31-2; non-visual sources of, 44, 65; enrichment of form through, 45.
- "Expressive design," 152, 155 ff.
- Form (see also Associative, Functional, Plastic, and Representational form), definition of, 19, 21-3, 165; various "amplitudes" of, 31-2, 45, 58-60, 71-3, 75 ff., 97-8, 124 ff., 144 ff., 168; relation to subject-matter, 1, 91-2; compared with other sources of æsthetic value, 32, 68-9; enrichment through expression, 45; through ultra-plastic representation, 69 ff.; "displacement" of, 149-50.
- Fry, Roger, 15, 121-2.
- Functional form, 46-7, 51.
- "Fusion" between subject-matter and "body-forms," 14-15.
- Geometrical pattern, 35-8.
- Giorgione, 13; "Pastoral Concert," 5.
- Giotto, 13, 131-2.
- Guillaume and Monro, 7.
- Holmes, Sir Charles, 6-7.
- Illumination, 42.
- Illustration, 11, 108.
- Impressionism, 94.
- Industrial form, 46-7, 51.
- "Internal" as distinguished from "ultra-pictorial" meanings, 106 ff.
- Knowledge as related to æsthetic experience, 105, 111-12.
- Light, 42.
- "Literary" effects in visual art, 98 ff., 141 ff.
- Literary form, 99 ff., 136 ff.
- Manet, 104.
- Material, beauty of, defined, 19; relation to form, 33-4; enriched through form, 32-3; through expression, 64-5.
- Mathematical form, 33.

- Mather, Frank Jewett, 5-6.
 Matisse, 12-13.
 Maunon, Charles, 15, 76, 121.
 Meanings, "internal" as distinguished from "ultra-pictorial," 106 ff.; universal as distinguished from particular, 114-16.
 Melodrama, 8, 149-50, 159; definition of, 150.
 "Middle position" in modern criticism, 54-5, 165-6.
 Millais, "Lorenzo and Isabella," 107, 141.
 Music, 2-3, 39-40, 122, 137.
- Naturalism, 152.
 Nature as source of creative inspiration, 58-9.
 "Network of relations," 22, 60, 79.
 Non-visual experience as related to vision, 41 ff., 97-8.
- Paleolithic art, 7.
 Pattern, two types of, 35; geometrical, 35-8; limitations of, 35 ff.; representational, 58-9.
 Perception, 31-2.
 Perugino, "Agony in the Garden," 86, 130-31.
 "Photographic" art, 151.
 Plastic effects, partly representational, 58-61, 164; not the sole source of visual form, 90-91; relation to associative effects, 135 ff.
 Plastic "equivalency," 9 ff., 13, 124.
 Plastic form, enriched through representation, 60-61, 164-5; relation to associative form, 122 ff.
 Poetry, 123.
 "Priority," of elements in visual form, 136-8.
 "Psychological form," 15, 73, 76.
- Raphael, "Marriage of the Virgin," 78.
 Realism, 152.
 "Reality" in æsthetic experience, 157-8.
 Reid, Herbert Arnaud, 4, 14, 166.
 Relations, "network of," 22, 60, 79.
 Rembrandt, "Portrait of an Old Woman," 75, 82, 125-6; "Portrait of the Painter's Mother," 77, 83.
 Representation (see also Ultra-plastic representation), definition of, 56; spontaneous emergence of, 52, 56-7; importance as compared with plastic effects, 135 ff.; relation to plastic effects, 60-61, 93 ff., 135 ff., 164-5; relation to æsthetic values, 24, 58 ff., 118-19; relation to form, 91-2, 165; relation to observer's knowledge, 112-13; internal clarity of, 105 ff., 111-12; confusion due to uncertain, 37, 50; universal and particular meanings in, 114-16; ultra-pictorial extensions of, 105 ff., 116 ff.
- Representational form, definition of, 73, 124-5, 134; examples of, 125 ff.; variations of, 135 ff.; defective examples of, 142 ff.
 Romanticism, definition of, 150-51.
- Santayana, George, 19-21, 69, 121.
 Sculpture, 59, 160.
 Sensation, visual, 26-7; tactile, 64-5.
 Sensuous appeal of color, 27; of texture, 43; through ultra-plastic representation, 64-5.
 Setting, 81 ff.
 "Significant form," 2, 3.
 Social background of art, 116-17.
 Sound, intrinsically abstract, 39-40, 167-8.
 Space, 52.
 "Strata" of vision, 25; first stratum, 26 ff.; second stratum, 29 ff., 57-8; third stratum, 41 ff., 57; fourth stratum, 62 ff., 90 ff.
 Subject-matter, see Representation.
- Tactile sensation, 43, 64-5.
 Texture, 43-4.
 Third dimension, 42.
 Tintoretto, 8, 13, 103; "Annunciation," 84.
 Titian, 13, 132; "Entombment," 5; compared with Cézanne, "Still Life," 10, 132-3; "Madonna of the Cherries," 79, 83-4, 106, 127; "Presentation of the Virgin," 80.
 "Transferred values," 13.
- Ultra-pictorial representation, 105 ff.
 Ultra-plastic representation, effect on "material," 64-5; effect on form, 69 ff.; effect on expression, 65 ff.; place in visual art, 97 ff., 118-20.
 Universal as distinguished from particular meanings, 114-16.
- Velasquez, 104.
 Vermeer, 104.
 Veronese, "Marriage of St. Catherine," 84.
 Vision, intrinsically representational, 39-40, 167; affected by non-visual experience, 41 ff., 90 ff., 97-8; priority of elements in, 136 ff.
 Visual form, various "amplitudes" of, see Form.
- Wilenski, R. H., 151-2.