

Index

- Acconci, V., 5, 10n, 59
Adaptation Studies, 195–9, 234
Conversions, 195–9, 232n, 234
Following Piece, 195–9, 208–9, 229, 233–4
- action-tokens
“doings” contrasted with action-tokens strictu sensu, 171–3 modal and constitutive properties of, 168–73
- action-type hypothesis, 120, 127–45, 180, 182, 188, 236, 263 contrasted with the performance theory, 147–55, 175–6
outlined, 128–31, 203
problems with, 112n, 123, 132–40, 146–9, 152–4
and the revisionism objection, 141–5
- actual intentionalism, see intentionalist models of interpretation
- aesthetic empiricism
defined, 25–6
direct arguments against, assessed, 38–49, 62–74 indirect and direct arguments against, 28 indirect arguments against, assessed, 28–38
- Alperson, P., 225–6
Anderson, L., 193
animation, 68
Arnheim, R., 61
Arte Povera, 9n, 69, 71n art-historical context, defined, 64–5 artistic medium, 61n, 64–5, 67, 71n, 75, 81, 83, 114, 146, 149–50, 157, 199, 202, 214, 225, 229, 258 bearing of provenance on, 71–4 and Goodman’s “symptoms of the aesthetic,” 250–3 and the institutional nature of art, 245–8
the problem of defining, 80, 237 two aspects of, 59–60 and vehicular medium, 56–62
- artistic properties, defined, 26 artistic statement, articulation of, 52–4 artistic value
and art-historical value, 26, 32, 36
“enlightened empiricist” conception of, 255–62
- Artschwager, R., 68
- Bach, J. S., 6, 212–13
Banes, S., 17
Barnes, B., 2n
Barry, R., 5, 8, 10, 10n, 58, 194
Bartok, B., 41
Baxandall, M., 3n, 61n, 135n, 230, 232n on the bearing of provenance on appreciation, 27, 39, 188–9 on Piero’s Baptism of Christ, 52, 66–7, 222n
- Bazin, A., 61n
Beardsley, M. C., 8, 29n, 242n on dance, 17, 56, 59

- Beardsley, M. C. cont'd on intentionalist models of interpretation, 84, 94, 96–7
 on Readymades, 11, 13
- Beethoven, L. van, 46–8, 54, 74, 130, 142, 184–5, 219
- Bell, C., 7–8, 14, 29n, 67, 220, 239–40, 256
- Benton, T., 4
- Berg, A., 6
- Beuys, J., 12
- Binkley, T. on artworks as specified pieces, 10n, 12, 77, 180–1, 183n, 191–2, 237, 245 on defining “art,” 241, 244n, 247
 on medium in art, 57–60
 on piece-specification and the articulation of artistic statements, 52–4, 262
 on the pragmatic constraint, 19–20
- Bloor, D., 2n
- Bogosian, E., 193
- Bonzon, R., 8n, 255
- Borges, J. L., 137n
Pierre Menard, 40–1, 48, 65, 122
- Brahms, J. (Piano Sonata op. 2), 41, 46–8, 54, 74, 83, 184–5, 219
- Braque, G., 5, 103
- Braxton, A., 6
- Breton, A., 4
- Budd, M., 8n, 127n, 142n, 255
- Burge, T., 164n, 182n
- Burgess, A., A Clockwork Orange, 142
- Cage, J., 6
 camera obscura, x, 15–16, 81–2
- Carroll, N., 17, 91, 94
- categories of art
 and artistic medium, 73
 Walton on, 31–2, 37, 58, 72–3
- Celine, L., 157
- Cervantes, M., 40
- Cézanne, P., 4, 5, 111–12, 115, 140
- Chapman, J. and D., 2n
- Christo, 192
- Clark, K., 54–5, 56, 69, 70, 82, 157, 258–9
- Cleland, C., 168
- Close, C., 68
- Cochrane, R., 225, 227n
- Coleridge, S. T.
Ancient Mariner, 113, 115
Kubla Khan, 59, 104, 110, 110n, 115, 155–6, 169
- Collingwood, R. G., 35n
- Collins, J., 10n
- Coltrane, J., My Favorite Things, 208, 226–7
- common-sense theory of art, 23–4, 25
 empiricist nature of, 7, 254
 and forgeries, 13–15, 201
 and modernism, 8–13, 189–90
 outlined, 6–8
 summary of the case against, 253–5
- constitution, and identity, 175
- constitutive property, 104–5, 123
- contextualism
 and the bearing of provenance on artistic appreciation, 100–1
 defined, 77
 and forgeries, 201–2
 and modernism, 191–8
 and the revisionism objection, 180–6
 summary of the case against, 262–5
- counter-empiricist thesis strong and weak forms of, 39–40 strong form of, endorsed, 73–4
- Croce, B., 35n
- Currie, G., 85, 91n, 162, 219 on the action-type hypothesis, 112n, 120, 123, 127–45, 146–9, 152–4, 175–6, 177, 180, 182, 188, 203, 236, 263, see also action-type hypothesis on aesthetic empiricism, 25–6, 28–39, 260 on “creationist” ontologies of art, 130–2
 on hypothetical intentionalism, 87
 on the pragmatic constraint, 18, 20
 on structuralist ontologies of art, 43, 45–9, 75
- dance, 17
- Danto, A.
 on artworks as contextualized entities, 41–2, 77, 108n, 181n, 183n, 191, 262 on the “artworld,” 27–8, 237, 245, 253 on the institutional theory of art, 246–7
 on medium in art, 57

- on perceptually indistinguishable art-objects, 42, 63–4, 73, 201
- on the pragmatic constraint, 19
- Davidson, D., 117, 168, 182–5
- Davies, S., 12n, 19, 217n
 - defense of a proceduralist definition of art, 247–8
 - on “functionalist” and “procedural” definitions of art, 238–9, 242
- Davis, M., All Blues, 208, 223, 226, 228, 229, 233
- de Duve, T., 9, 11n, 194n, 196n
- definitions of “art”
 - Davies on “functionalist” and “procedural” definitions, 238–9
 - defining “art” as performance, 249–53
 - functionalist definitions of “art,” 239–41
 - historical definitions of “art,” 241–2
 - procedural definitions of “art,” 242–9
- de Kooning, W., 9
- Descartes, R., 164
- Dickie, G., 11n, 12, 88
 - on the institutional theory of art, 53n, 190n, 243–9
- Dodd, J., 44n, 185–6, 264
- Dogme, 95, 70–1
- “doings,” 169–73
- Duchamp, M., Fountain, 8, 9, 11–13, 11n, 12n, 41, 59, 136, 150, 189–92, 194, 196, 243–4
- Dutton, D., 27, 67, 202–5, 206–7, 260

- Eaton, K., 225
- Elgar, E., Cello Concerto, 208, 210, 218, 226, 229
- Emin, T., 2n
- enlightened empiricism, 255–62
- epistemological argument in the ontology of art
 - against structuralism, 42–9
 - defined, 22–3
 - for a contextualist ontology of art, 77–8
 - for Currie’s action-type hypothesis, 128–9
- focus of appreciation
 - bearing of provenance upon, 62–74
 - defined, 26
 - fine structure of, analyzed, 50–62
 - fine structure of, as bearing on the institutional nature of art, 245–7
 - in the performance arts, 210–15
 - forges, 13–15, 27, 200–5
- Gaut, B., 222
- Gerrard, N., 2n
- Gilardi, P., 69
- Godard, J-L., Weekend, 142
- Goethe, J., 204
- Goldberg, R., 261
- Goodman, N., 20n, 43–4, 44n, 51n, 76–7, 135, 153n
 - on arthood as a matter of symbolic functioning, 249–50
 - on the nature of the musical work, 210–13, 215
 - on symptoms of the aesthetic, 250–1, 253
- Gould, C. S., 225
- Gould, G., 221
- Greenaway, P., 111
- Greenberg, C., 5n, 70, 259
 - on color-field painting, 4–5
 - on Pollock, 2–4
 - on Readymades, 11
- Guggenheim, P., 2–3

- Heidegger, M., 21n
- Hermeren, G., 91
- Hillary, E., 101–2
- Hirsch, E. D., 85, 94
- Hirst, D., 2n, 59, 189
 - The Physical Impossibility of Death in the Mind of Someone Living*, 251–3
 - “spot” paintings, 231–2
- history of art, internalist and externalist, 2–5
- Hoban, R., 86
- Hofmann, H., 4
- Hopkins, G. M., Henry Purcell, 95
- Huelsenbeck, R., 61n
- Hume, G., 2n
- hypothetical intentionalism, see intentionalist models of interpretation

- improvisation, 225–9
 - improvisational composition, 227–8
 - improvisational interpretation, 226–7
 - and interpretation, 225–6
 - pure improvisation, 228–9

- incomplete works, 109–11
 indicated structure theory, 117, 147, 177, 237
 and the charge of metaphysical obscurity, 122, 181–5 on the creatability of artworks, 44n, 185–6, 264 on the modal properties of artworks, 106–7, 113, 122
 outlined, 77, 105–7, 210
 and the revisionism objection, 180–6 individuating conditions, 104–5, 121–2 institutional theory of art as defended by Dickie, 190, 242–9 and the fine structure of the focus of appreciation, 245–7 intentional fallacy, 84
 intentionalist models of interpretation actual intentionalism, 85–7 “broad” and “narrow” construals of the contents of intentions, 163–7 hypothetical intentionalism, 87–8 interpretive intentionalism, 89 interpretive intentionalism, see
 intentionalist models of interpretation
 Iseminger, G., 85, 88, 91n, 94–5
- James, W., 40
 Jarrett, K., Köln Concerts, 209, 219, 222, 228
 Joyce, J., 157
 Juhl, P. D., 91
- Kant, I., 255
 Kieran, M., 8n, 255–7, 261n
 Kim, J., 168
 Kivy, P., 43, 136n
 Knapp, S., 91
 Kosuth, J., 11
 Kounellis, J., 9n, 69
 Kripke, S., 105, 108n, 123–4, 216
 Kuhn, T., 20n, 133n
- Lakatos, I., 133, 135n
 Latham, J., 10n
 Laudan, L., 2n
 Lessing, A., 14–16, 29n, 35, 206, 220, 260
 Levinson, J.
- on the action-type hypothesis, 127n, 142n
 on aesthetic empiricism, 41–2
 on “art” defined historically, 241–2, 244–5 on art-historical context, 64–5 on artistic value, 254–7, 260–1 on being a work-performance, 216–17
 on hypothetical intentionalism, 87–8
 on medium in art, 56–7, 58n
 on the pragmatic constraint, 18
 on structuralist ontologies of art, 42, 46–9, 54, 75, 83, 91n, 117, 138, 139, 219 on works as indicated structures, 44n, 77–8, 105–7, 113, 117, 122, 147, 177, 180–6, 210, 237, 263–4, see also indicated structure theory
 LeWitt, S., 9n, 35n, 208, 229–33
Wall Drawing No. 623, 231
 Lichtenstein, R., 65, 199
 Linker, K., 197–8
 Lippard, L., 2, 9, 136n, 192, 195, 208n
 Liszt, F., 41
 Livingston, P., 94, 109
 Louis, M., 8, 70, 82, 259–61
 Lucie-Smith, E., 4, 70, 82, 259
- MacKay, A., 85n
Malade imaginaire, Le (Molière), 143, 144, 178
 Mandelbaum, M., 242–3
 Margolis, J.
 on medium in art, 56–7, 59–60
 on works as culturally emergent entities, 77, 180, 192
 Marinetti, F. T., 61n, 261
 Matheson, C., 226n
 medium
 “artistic” and “vehicular” mediums distinguished, 56–62 knowledge of provenance as bearing on the appreciation of, 64–74 see also artistic medium; vehicular medium Mendelssohn, F., 41
 Michael, W. B., 91
 Mingus, C., 226, 226n

- modality principle defense of, 120–6
 defined, 104–5
 see also work-relativity of modality
- modernism
 as a challenge to the common-sense view of art, 8–13, 189–90
 and contextualism, 191–8
 and the performance theory, 198–200
- Monk, T., 226
- Moore, H., 8
- Morris, R., 5, 9
- Mozart, W. A., 111, 140
- Mueck, R., 9
- Nathan, D., 87–8
- Naumann, B., 209, 229, 232–3
- Newman, B., 5, 8, 189
- Nyman, M., 111, 140
- Oldenberg, C., 192–3
- Orwell, G., 111
- Perce, G., 71, 108n, 199
- performance arts, 207–35
 defined, 207
 the focus of appreciation in, 210–15
 improvisation in, 225–9
 relation between performed works and work-performances, 210–19
 work-performances as performance-works, 219–25
- performance theory argument for, from the bearing of artistic intentions on artistic appreciation, 84–102 argument for, from the work-relativity of modality, 107–20
 on artworks as “doings” rather than action-tokens strictu sensu, 167–76 on artworks as specifications of focuses of appreciation, 148–51 characterized, 80
 on the contents of artistic intentions taken to be work-constitutive, 163–7 contrasted with the action-type hypothesis, 147–55, 175–6
 and forgeries, 202–5
 on the individuation of artworks, 151–8
 and modernism, 198–200, 229–35
 and the performance arts, 207–25 on provenance-based properties of the work-focus, 159–63
 and the revisionism objection, 141–5, 178–80, 186–9
- performance-works
 defined, 219
 improvisation in, 225–9
 work-performances as, 219–25
- performed works
 defined, 210
 relation to work-performances, 210–19
- Picasso, P., 5, 31
 Demiselles d'Avignon, Les, 32, 34, 83,
 101, 103, 111–12, 114–15, 140, 155
 Guernica, 31, 32, 34, 50–1, 59, 66, 72–3, 111
- Piero della Francesca, The Baptism of Christ, 51–2, 66–7, 164–7, 222n
- Pietroski, P., 212n
- Pollock, J., 2–4, 8, 9, 199
- pragmatic constraint on the ontology of art, 21n, 43, 45, 46, 48, 62, 75, 78, 96, 103, 129–30, 140–1, 143, 188, 237 defined and defended, 18–22
 place in epistemological arguments, 22–3
- Putnam, H., 164n, 165n, 216
- Rainer, Y., 17
- Rawls, J., 20n
- Rembrandt, 5
- Ridley, A., 35n
- Rivera, D., 4
- Readymades, philosophical significance of,
 11–13, 11n, 12n, 41, 59, 136, 150,
 189–92, 194, 196, 243–4
- revisionism objection to process ontologies of art
 and contextualism, 180–6
 and Currie's action-type hypothesis, 141–5
 and the performance theory, 178–80, 186–9
- rigid designators, names of works as, 105, 123–4
- Rodin, A., 8

- Rosenberg, H., 2
 Rothko, M., 5, 189
 Rudder Baker, L., 175n
 Russolo, L., 61n, 261
- Saatchi, C., 2n
 Schubert, F., 204
 Scruton, R., 66
 Shakespeare, W., 217
 Shields, C., 127n
 Sibelius, J., 106
 Sibley, F., 29n
 Stamitz, J., 41
 Steadman, P., ix–x, 15n Stecker, R.
 historical functionalist definition of “art,” 246 on intentionalist models of interpretation, 88, 94
 on the pragmatic constraint, 18
- Stella, F., 5, 189
 Still, C., 5
 structuralism in the ontology of art
 defined, 43
 epistemological arguments against, 43–9
 and the strong counter-empiricist thesis, 74–5
 symmetry, in Renaissance and Baroque art, 37
- Thompson, J. J., 175n
 Tolhurst, W., 87n
 Tolstoy, L., 21, 239–40
 Turner, J. M. W., 69, 112, 157, 199
 Snowstorm, 54–5, 56, 70, 82–3, 123, 141, 144, 179, 258–61
- van Meegeren, H., The Disciples at Emmaeus, ix, 14–15, 32, 34, 202, 259–60
- vehicular medium, 71n, 72–5 passim, 80–3 passim, 101, 114–9 passim, 146,
 150–1, 154–8, 158n, 161, 163–6,
 167, 173–4, 192, 194, 199n, 201,
 211, 214, 221, 226n, 237, 239, 245,
 250–2, 258, 262
 and artistic medium, 56–62
- bearing of provenance on, 67–71
 defined, 59
- Vermeer, J.
 The Art of Painting, ix–x use of the camera obscura, 15–16, 35 and van Meegeren, 14–16, 34, 202, 259–60
- Vinterberg, T., 71
- Walton, K., 31–2, 37, 58, 72–3
 Warhol, A., 41, 59, 108, 139, 169, 189–90
 Weitz, M., 21n, 240–2, 253
 Wiggins, D., 120
 Wimsatt, W., 84, 96–7
 Wittgenstein, L., 240
 Wolfe, T., 1–13, 16, 25, 190, 193, 234
 Wölfflin, H., 4–5, 37
 Wollheim, R., 19, 27, 29n, 35n
 on minimalist art, 12
 on the ontology of art, 43–4, 76, 127 on “two-foldness,” 55–6
- Wolterstorff, N., 19n, 127n, 142n
 on arguments against structuralism, 47–8, 74–5
 on musical works as norm-kinds, 77, 181n, 184, 210, 212n, 216n
- Wolf, V., To the Lighthouse, 139–40
- work-performances
 appreciation of, 223–5
 correctness of, 217–19
 defined, 210
 as performances of particular works, 215–17
 as performance-works, 219–25 relation to performed works, 210–19
- work-relativity of modality
 defined, 112
 examples in support of, 107–12
 ontological implications of, 113–20 strategy for accommodating, 114–117, 147
- Young, J., 217n, 226n
- Ziff, P., 91
 Zorn, J., 226n